

Say / Mean / Matter Chart

Directions: Below is a Say/Mean/Matter chart. This chart is used to increase your understanding of particular chapters or quotes from the text. I have included one example from the text, you must include three quotes of your own and explain what they mean and why they matter. Make sure all of your responses are in complete sentences.

Say: What does the text literally say? (Paraphrase or summarize the excerpt in your own words.)	Mean: What does this text mean? (Interpret the author's ideas, explore implications, or explain the underlying message.)	Matter: Why does this matter? (Connect the excerpt to broader themes, issues, or contexts; explain its significance for readers or the world.)
In Steinbeck's, Of Mice and Men , George claims, "Guys like us, that work on ranches, are the loneliest guys in the world."	George's statement means that ranchers live lonely and isolated lives. They rarely have close relationships.	Due to the loneliness of ranchers, they don't have families or homes and rarely have anyone to trust. This is to show readers how life in America was during the Dust Bowl. During this time, many men were stripped of their stability and had to work to live.
