① Mexico Trip

For my husband and I 10 year Anniversary we decided to take a very last minute trip to Mexico. We booked on a Saturday and flew out the next Thursday. I can remember the anxiety I faced leading up to the flight. I couldn't believe we was actually going on a trip out of the country without our Kids. Once we were in the air I prayed the whole way for a safe fun trip and return. When we stepped off the plane in Mexico there was armed men with machine guns everywhere you looked ...

② Brother-in-law left on Cruise Ship

Last summer my family took a cruise for my nieces graduation trip.

It was our first time ever going on a cruise and everyone was having a great time. We docked at Grand Turk and it was time to debark.

We couldn't find my brother-in-law

so we figured he had already got off the ship and was waiting on us. So we got off the ship and looked around but didn't see him.

We waited for 30 min and still didn't see him. We decided to take off to the beach. About an hour passed and I happened to look at the pier and saw him

speed walking. I could tell he was ticked.

Come to find out he had been waiting for us to come get him from the room....
