

Say–Mean–Matter Goal setting

Suggested sentence templates for Say–Mean–Matter:

SAY What does the text say? Direct quote, paraphrase, or summary	MEAN What does this information mean? Make an inference. Interpret and “read between the lines.” • What does the author mean? • How can the information be interpreted? • What can be inferred? • What point is the author making?	MATTER Why does it matter? So what? What are the implications and/or possible outcomes? • Why does this information matter? • Why is this important or significant? • What are the implications or consequences of the information? • How does this connect to other ideas?
• X[*] states/says/writes ... • X claims/argues/insists ... • According to X, ... • X reminds us that ... • As X points out ... *X is the author or source	• This quote/evidence/idea + means/emphasizes/shows ... • This suggests/implies ... • In other words, X believes ... • Basically, X is saying ... • X’s point is that ...	• As a result, ... • Also/In addition, ... • For example/instance, ... • In my experience, ... • This connects/relates to ... • Knowing this will ...

Task:

Welcome back! Let's get started and focus on the second semester by making some goals. You are going to choose from one of the following quotes and apply what this quote means to you and how you can work to obtain success by practicing this quote:

End Goal:

You will have a quote to hold yourself accountable. This quote should help you see how to make yourself a better you. It can be academically(wanting to do better in school some way) , it could be socially(making new friends or trying new clubs) or it could be behaviorally (making yourself focus to obtain positive attention from peers or teachers). The above example may help you get started if you feel your struggling with some words.

- “Every day is a new chance to level up—use today to become a little better than yesterday.”
- “The strongest students aren’t the ones who never struggle; they’re the ones who don’t give up when it gets hard.”
- “Your attitude is your superpower—choose one that helps you learn, grow, and treat others well.”
- “Small positive choices add up. What you do today builds the person you’ll be at the end of the year.”
- “Mistakes aren’t failures—they’re training steps that get you closer to success.”
- “When you take responsibility for your learning and your actions, you take control of your future.”

SAY What does the text say? Direct quote, paraphrase, or summary	MEAN What does this information mean? Make an inference. Interpret and “read between the lines.” ● What does the author mean? ● How can the information be interpreted? ● What can be inferred? ● What point is the author making?	MATTER Why does it matter? So what? What are the implications and/or possible outcomes? ● Why does this information matter? ● Why is this important or significant? ● What are the implications or consequences of the information? ● How does this connect to other ideas?