

Say-Mean-Matter

Whole Class Practice

Directions: Below is a quotation from Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. After reading the quote, determine what the quote means and why you think it matters.

Say	Mean	Matter
→ What does the text say?	→ What does the author mean? → How can this information be interpreted? → What can be inferred?	→ Why does this information matter? → Why is this important or significant? → What are the implications or consequences of the information? → How does this connect to other ideas?
"The function of education is to teach one to think intensively and to think critically. Intelligence plus character – that is the goal of true education." —Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Partner Practice

Directions: With your partner, practice the Say-Mean-Matter routine with a quote coming from Walk Two Moons by Sharon Creech.

Say	Mean	Matter
→ What does the text say?	→ What does the author mean? → How can this information be interpreted? → What can be inferred?	→ Why does this information matter? → Why is this important or significant? → What are the implications or consequences of the information? → How does this connect to other ideas?
"Don't judge a man until you've walked two moons in his moccasins."

Say-Mean-Matter

Independent Practice

Directions: On your own, practice the Say-Mean-Matter routine with a quote coming from today's section of Walk Two Moons by Shanon Creech.

Say	Mean	Matter
→ What does the text say?	→ What does the author mean? → How can this information be interpreted? → What can be inferred?	→ Why does this information matter? → Why is this important or significant? → What are the implications or consequences of the information? → How does this connect to other ideas?
"We never know the worth of water until the well is dry."

Extended Thinking:

- After reading today's section of Walk Two Moons, why does this quote matter to the Winterbottom family? Use PQPA to structure your response.
